

Design note 2

Our session management story relies on rotating short-lived secrets. The client never sees the long-lived seed; only the derived per-request material crosses the wire. Expiry is enforced at the gateway, not in the client.